The Thirty-sixth-st. Homicide-The Defens THE PEOPLE AGAINST HENRY OTTO CLAUS.

The trial of Dr. Claus for the murder of Charle arson in a saloon in Thirty-sixth-st, was resumed in the Court f Oyer and Terminor, before Justice Ingraham yesterday, the room being crowded and the interest apparently great.

Mr. James T. Brady, in opening for the defense, claimed

Mr. James T. Brady, in opening for the defense, claimed that the transaction had been wholly misrepresented by the witnesses who had arranged their stories together to make it appear that they were without blame. In reality the parties in the saloon had failen on Dr. Clans and beaten hin; and that the Doctor, if he had used the cane at all, which was not proved, had used it in self-defense. They would show the blameless and high character of the prisoner, and that the sword-cane could not be drawn, it having been, in fact, freed by their breaking it ever his head.

Wm. Salezile testified that on the night before the homicide the Doctor came to his house—a larger-beer and wine saloom—about 114 o'clock, and stayed till a little past 1, the witness had a private ball in his upper floor that evening; the Doctor handed him his hat and cane to take care of; the cane had wax-ends and wire around it; witness tried to draw the cane, sword from the cane, to make fun for his children, and could not; at a little after 1 he gave him bis hat and cane, and seat him off, as he was closing up, with a Mr. Steinhart; he knew the cane was a sword-cane, because Dr. Claus told him so.

Mrs. Salezile, the wife of the last witness, deposed that she received the cane from her husband, and laid it behind the har; her children were sent to bed about 10 o'clock. In other matters she corroborated the last witness.

Augustus W. Steinhart was called—He had been with the prisoner that evening before he went to Saleziler, and with him there; he had his cane with him; they paried at Carson's, the prisoner asying he wanted to get some soda-water.

Angust Claus testified to prisoner's good character, and to the difficulty of drawing the sword from the cane; the prisoner told him he had the cane did him; they paried at Carson's, the difficulty of drawing the sword from the cane; the prisoner told him he had the cane did him; they paried at Carson's.

John M. Funk festified to the prisoner's good character and to the condition of the came—that he could not draw it with a string; the doctor said he intended to have a tin plate put on, so that it could not be draws at all.

Charles Rapp had had the prisoner living with him during six months; he never was disorderly, but always came into his meals like a mun; games of begatelle took from 15 to 20 minutes in playing; good players might play faster; the witness also testified to the impossibility of drawing the cane.

Charles Edward Claus, a brother of the accused, resident in Allentown, Pa, testified to his brother's good character; his brother good character; his brother bought the cane at Allentown about two years ago; witness fixed it up so that no one could draw it; he was anary with his brother for buying it and threatened to break it up; there was no split in it when he fixed it up.

Edward Martin, a physician of Affentown, had known the prisoner some seven years, and testified to his good character; the prisoner had studied with him in 1803; in 1864 he carried this cane.

gold watches throughout the country since Government has levied a tax upon them:

"The question 'What becomes of all the pins' now sinks into insignificance beside another inquiry of more serious moment. What has become of all the gold watches? This country has been famous for these glitering time pieces. Not a well-to-de-gentleman in any part of the land but had his gold ticker; they were an indispensable portion of a young lady's attire, and even beardless boys were eager to possess the coveted treasure, and could not wait for it until they came to man's estate. But, unfortunately for the happy owners of these elegant articles, the eye of the greedy tax gatherer was caught by their glitter, and they were to be made to contribute to the instonal revenue. Any gold watch in the, worth less than $100, was to be charged $1, and when valued at over $100, was to be charged $1, and when valued at over $100, was to be charged $1, and when valued at over $100, was to be charged $1, and when valued at over $100, was to be charged $1, and when valued at over $100, was to be charged $1, and when valued at over $100, was to be charged $1, and when valued at over $100, was to be charged $1, and when valued at over $100, was to be charged $1, and when valued at over $100, was to be charged $1, and when valued at over $100, was to be charged $1, and when valued at over $100, was to be charged $1, and when valued at over $100, was to be charged $1, and when valued at over $100, was to be charged $1, and when valued at over $100, was to be charged $1, and when valued at over $100, was to yet $1 Mackay, Tyng, Thomas, Halloran, Roberts, Pollman and Hetrick—II. A Cord. ATCHISON AND PIKE'S PEAK RAILROAD COMPANY. To the Editor of The N. Y. Tribune.

SIR: THE TRIBUNE and other journals of this city.

Sir: The Tribune and other journals of this city, in several recent paragraphs, have spoken of me as "ea es sconding railroad President." The charge is without foundation, as those who know me need not be teld.

A difference existed between the Company and myself as to whether I was or was not entitled to certain commissions agreed upon in connection with the sale of a portion of their bonds. The courts here, at home, were open to the Company, and I was ready at any time to meet the issue. They chose, however, to resort to a writ of se excet (in the State of Massachusetts), wherein, as you are aware, export sufficients and are heard. The charges set forth in the affidavit salone are heard. The charges set forth in the affidavit salone formed the basis of the writ, were proved to be false by the oral evidence of the very party who made those charges.

I was, however, a non-resident of the State of Massachusetts, temporarily within the jurisdiction of its courts. As such I was held for my personal appearance to essit, as in an action at common law for something less than the amount in dispute. The case will be heard before a jury in the Supreme Judicial Court at Boston, in October next.
